Optional: You can book a call with a developer to discuss their submitted revisions before we proceed with the work. Revisions will then follow the above delivery timelines based on the received revisions.

Process Expectations

In order to build a website you will love, there are a few requirements that must be met in order to deliver this service efficiently. Please ensure you have read the following for best results.

Getting Started

There are three components necessary to build a website: hosting, domain, and a template. To understand how each of these pieces relates to your website, let's consider an analogy. Let's consider a website as if it was a piece of real estate, like a house.

1. Hosting your Website

If your website is a house, then the hosting is like the land that sits under your property.

For every website we build, we host it directly with Duda. This allows us to manage everything from a single platform - and with a single cost!

2. Choosing a Domain

Using that same analogy, a website domain is kind of the like the address of the house or website.

- If you doesn't already have a domain: There are multiple vendors from which you can purchase a domain, but we recommend GoDaddy domains as they are the global leader in domains. Specifically, when you purchase it through the Marketplace, you will not need to delegate access or credentials to our team, as we can access it through the platform.
- If you does already have a domain: If your business already have a domain active can follow these simple steps to share their domain with us.
 - Option 1: For GoDaddy, please delegate access to websites@yourdigitalagents.com.
 - For Google or Squarespace domains, please delegate access to websitesanalytics@localmarketpage.com.
 - Option 2: If option 1 is not possible, please ensure you share the following details with us during their onboarding call so that we can access their domain effectively.
 - Provide the URL link to the current domain/website
 - Provide the username and password to get into the domain.

3. Choosing a Template

The last piece of the puzzle is the website template. In our analogy, choosing a website template is like choosing a house blueprint from a developer's collection of showhomes. You are choosing the fixed structure with the opportunity to add final visual touches to make it your own.

You can choose any two of our recommended templates to mix and match sections as your business desires. Remember to choose a website template based on the aesthetic you feel would best suit your business. Just because a template was initially built for a spa doesn't mean it can't work for your cleaning company.

Process Expectations

Here are a few other little odds and ends that you should probably know.

Service Limitations

There are a small number of factors that prevent us from producing a great website for you. With your help, we can avoid these circumstances and deliver an end-result that you're proud to deliver to you.

1. Website Customizations

There are limitations to the level of customization available in Duda. With this in mind, we've refined our service to what we know works—every time. Our recommended templates are primed to help you get online fast, gain the attention of your customers, and convert them into superfans.

If you require more customized solution, please get in touch with your sales representative to see if our Tailored Website solution may be better suited to your needs.

2. Ongoing Support

We want to make sure that you and your website is supported throughout the process. That's why we include ongoing support with your monthly subscription.

Note - Once cancelled, website support and hosting will be terminated at the end of your current billing cycle. Your website will then be taken offline and you will not be able to directly transfer to another hosting provider.

Additional Factors to Consider

There are also a few additional factors that can impact the service or price of the accelerated templated website build. The more informed you are, the better you can prepare your customer for the full project.

1. Fluctuating Timelines

We do our best to deliver your website as quickly as possible, but we also know that we require additional time when additional pages or functionalities are incorporated into the site build. Every add-on service may cause a delay in the timeline, but we'll confirm this on your onboarding call.

2. Additional Costs

When it comes to website builds, just like home builds, you can add as many additional stories or gadgets as you desire. However, just like building a new house, adding these details (in this case, additional pages and eCommerce) adds incremental costs to the final total. Please keep this in mind when requesting functionality and pages so that the final invoice doesn't surprise you.

Documentation for Business

Process Expectations

Now, it's time for the fun part—building your client's website! Here's what you can expect:

Onboarding Call

The onboarding call is our opportunity to chat with you about their business to get a full understanding of what their business has to offer and how we can convey that story to their customers. It also helps for you to understand the full process and avoid any surprises down the road. We'll review the chosen template(s) with the you to gain a visual understanding of what you like, what you don't, and what we can adapt to ensure the site meets their expectations.

You can help yourself prepare for this call by creating a document or Drive folder that contains their logo, chosen font, color palette, and images. Please note: It's crucial that you ensure this document or Drive is accessible to anyone with the link to ensure that each member of our team can access your file to deliver your website on time.

Building Your Website

Next, you can sit back and relax as our professional website developers transform your chosen template into a website that perfectly represents their business online. We'll incorporate their preferred fonts, color palette, and images, as well as generate AI-written copy to fill each page of their website.

Making Revisions

This portion of the process may be the most important, because we want to make sure that you are thrilled with the website we build for you. To help us do this, we request that you help us complete one or two major rounds of revisions to your site, which includes your change requests. This helps keep us on track to deliver your site in a timely manner.

We will provide you with a preview link to the site along with user access in order to add Site Comments with any notes or revisions that you'd like to see. When you're finished adding all of your pins, please send us an email to let us know that the team can get started.

Note: If you make additional change requests after the first round is received by our team, these edits will receive a secondary due date. If it's a small tweak, additional small changes can be made later or once the site is launched, as needed.

Setting Your Website Live

Congratulations! Your website is ready to be launched on the world wide web! Whenever possible, we want to launch a new website within 30 days to ensure you enjoy the website as soon as possible. If you would like edit access to your website at this time, please let us know and we can update your user permissions.

Ongoing Support

We get it—sometimes, things change! That's why we're happy to provide you with ongoing support for your website. This includes:

- Making updates to existing sections, in case you need to change images, text, colors, or contact form fields.
- Performing website health checks upon request.
- Fixing bugs and providing urgent support if your website goes offline for any reason.
- For a full list of edits and requests covered by Ongoing Support, please visit this resource.
